Introduction

Introduction

A

Objectives and Scope

This INPUT 1990 interim report on user requirements for customer service in Western Europe presents the large systems computer user's view of many aspects of computer system service and support.

The report is intended to enable service vendors to assess the service performance levels achieved by their organisations in 1990. Data, which relates to user perception of major vendor service performance, is presented in simple tabulated form. Trends relating to service performance can be assessed by comparing the data contained in this report with previous INPUT Annual Reports.

The report also contains tabulated data relating to the overall Western European user population, to enable vendors to compare their performance with overall mean values of Western European vendor performance.

B

Methodology

The data presented in this interim report was compiled from interviews with 158 large systems computer users throughout Western Europe. Users were chosen at random and interviewed by telephone in their native language when necessary. The basis of user interviews was a questionnaire relating to over 100 aspects of service and support, compiled from discussions with major service vendors. A copy of the user questionnaire is included as Appendix A.

Analysis contained within this report is focused on major equipment vendors.

Details of the user sample analysed in this report are given in Exhibits I-1 and I-2.

C*Report Structure

The remaining chapters of this report are structured as follows:

- Chapter II explains the basis of the statistics, the correct method of interpretation and ways of doing simple comparisons.
- Chapter III contains tabulated data and mean values relating to user perception of service performance overall in Western Europe.
- Chapter IV contains tabulated data relating to user perception of major equipment vendors' service performance.
- Appendix A contains the questionnaire used for user interviews.

Interpretation of the Data

Definitions

- Hardware: any computer system or peripheral system
- Software: operating systems software, NOT applications
- Large system: a system that is considered by the vendor part of that vendor's large system product range—for example IBM 309X and 308X, Bull DPS 8, or Digital VAX 8XXX.
- Medium System: a system that is considered by the vendor part of that vendor's medium system product range—for example IBM 43XX and AS/400, Bull DPS 7, or Digital VAX 6XXX.
- Small system: a system that is considered by the vendor part of that vendor's small system product range—for example IBM S34 and S36, Bull DPS6 or Digital Microvax.
- Documentation: user documentation, provided by the product vendor, which relates to operation and use of the computer system hardware or systems software.
- Standard Error: (of the mean) is the standard deviation (SD) of the sample divided by the square root of the sample size.

B

Statistics

Mean values are used throughout the tabulated data presented in this report. These mean values refer to either the mean value of user sample ratings for specific aspects of service performance, or to the overall mean value for a range of service performance factors. In either case the mean value calculation is weighted according to the number of user responses recorded.

The standard error for individual vendor data has been estimated for each set of tabulated data, calculation of the estimated standard error being based on the standard error for the overall sample across all ranges of system size. In general, the collective values from a large sample follow a normal distribution; readers of this report can accept that a deviation of individual vendor sample means of more than four times the standard error from the population sample mean is very unlikely. Hence the deviation would indicate a significant difference. In statistical terms, the probability of the mean for the total of all users in Europe being more than three times the standard error of the mean of the sample (total user sample is 810 for all system ranges) away from the sample mean, is about 0.4%.

In analysing the data presented in this report, INPUT has carefully scanned all the answers given during the interviews; when these answers were considered to be a gross departure from the norm, the data has been discounted. The objective of this exercise was to eliminate the worst effects of skew on distributions due to gross distortions.

Statistically, small sample sizes create difficulties due to the fact that they may not be totally representative of the population they represent. Although in the interests of completeness INPUT has included data relating to small samples, since these form part of a larger overall vendor sample, caution is recommended in assessing data from these small samples. A sample size of 20 should be considered the minimum to produce a statistically valid result.

C

Ratings and Satisfaction Index

In this report, ratings for importance and satisfaction are on a scale of 0 to 10 where:

- Importance
  - 0 = of no importance whatsoever
  - 5 = of average importance
  - 10 = extremely important
- Satisfaction
  - 0 = total and absolute dissatisfaction
  - 5 = average satisfaction
  - 10 = total satisfaction

The satisfaction index throughout this report is based on the difference between the importance and satisfaction ratings for specific aspects of service. The questions concerning importance and satisfaction were asked at the same time and the answers therefore reflect the respondent's value judgement at that time.

- Ratings of 10 and 10, or 6 and 6, etc., give a difference value of zero, indicating that the importance needs are fully satisfied.
- Ratings of importance 8 and satisfaction 9 would indicate overfulfillment of the importance needs, and would give a satisfaction index of -1. In INPUT's analysis an overfulfillment of -1 is represented as (1).
- Ratings of importance 6 and satisfaction 5 indicate underfulfillment of the importance needs and would give a satisfaction index of 1, the degree of underfulfillment being related to the magnitude of this difference.
- Satisfaction index can thus be interpreted as follows:
  - (1) = overfulfilled or oversatisfied
  - 0 = completely satisfied
  - 1 = concerns and worries
  - 2 = real dissatisfaction
  - 3 = pain level

Hardware Maintenance

I would now like to ask you some questions about the hardware maintenance of your computer system. (Reaffirm the system type _____)

Some of the questions are scaled with ratings from 0 to 10. Zero (0) represents zero importance or satisfaction, 5 is average, and 10 represents top importance or full satisfaction.

10. What is your rating for the importance of hardware maintenance to your business and how satisfied are you with your service vendor's performance?

- Importance rating _____
- Satisfaction rating _____

11. If we define systems availability as the percentage of your normal working hours that the system is operational (disregarding non-critical peripheral breaks), what percentage has that been for your system over the last twelve months?

• Percentage _____%

12. How many times each year does your system fail completely for a period of greater than one hour?

• Per year _____

And what percentage of these system failures are due to:

Hardware	_____%
Systems software	_____%
Applications software	_____%
Other (i.e., power failure)	_____%

13. What is your rating for the importance of systems availability (scale 0 - 10), and what is your level of satisfaction?

• Importance rating _____

• Satisfaction rating _____

14. Defining hardware response time as the time it takes between reporting a fault and the arrival of the service engineer on site (in working hours, that is to say 8 hours = 1 working day), what response time (in hours) do you find acceptable and what did you actually experience as an average over the last twelve months?

• Acceptable _____ Hours

• Experienced _____ Hours

15. If repair time is defined as the time taken to get the system fully operational from the time the engineer arrives on site, then what time do you find acceptable (in working hours) and what time did you experience in the last twelve months?

(Note: 8 hours = 1 working day/shift)

• Acceptable _____ Hours

• Experienced _____ Hours

16. I would now like to go through a list of five aspects of hardware maintenance and ask you to give an importance and satisfaction rating for each (scale 0 - 10).
